

TRAINING PROGRAMS / 2018

Northwoods Bird Dogs offers one of the finest facilities in the country for training grouse dogs. It is managed by husband-and-wife team Jerry Kolter and Betsy Danielson who have extensive experience with upland bird hunting, guiding and field trial competition.

In addition, Jerry is a nationally recognized bird dog trainer with more than 20 years experience. He brings each dog to its fullest potential through proper conditioning, proven training techniques and extensive exposure to birds.

The goal of training at Northwoods Bird Dogs is simple: development of the dog so it hunts with intensity, handles kindly and points birds with impeccable manners. Betsy and Jerry want owners to be proud of their dog's confidence, desire and style as a result of their training.

TRAINING GROUNDS.....

The location of Northwoods Bird Dogs in east central Minnesota is ideal for abundant wild bird exposure. Right out the kennel door, Jerry has access to more than 2,000 acres of training ground. Within a short distance are thousands of additional acres of public and private land that include excellent habitat for native populations of ruffed grouse and woodcock. During the winter months, Betsy and Jerry move to southwestern Georgia where they have a home, kennel and access to hundreds of acres of native piney woods. This provides ample training opportunities on bobwhite quail.

OWNER PARTICIPATION.....

Northwoods Bird Dogs believes it is imperative that the owner understands how to carry on with the training process. Jerry encourages at least one visit during a training session. Training programs conclude with a one-hour, hands-on, in-the-field session, in addition to a written evaluation and continuation plan.

EXCELLENT DOG CARE.....

All dogs receive excellent individual care while at Northwoods Bird Dogs. Dogs are fed top quality Purina Pro Plan Performance and weight is closely monitored.

- Facilities have spacious indoor/outdoor Mason kennels and radiant in-floor heat.
- Jerry and Betsy are sticklers about cleanliness and do everything possible to ensure clean and sanitized runs.
- Individual runs have Mason dog beds, sanitized chew toys and ample fresh water.
- Generous time is allowed for supervised exercise sessions with other dogs in large, fenced-in pens.
- Each day ends with a special pat and a dog biscuit.

PUPPY FOUNDATION.....

The Puppy Foundation program will bring out a puppy's pointing instincts in a natural manner through bird contact. It will become confident, bold and accustomed to gunfire and it will develop its inherent desire for birds. The puppy will have birds shot for it during pointing exercises and field work. It will be taught to handle in the field and will be introduced to basic field commands. The puppy will learn to will stop and stand still (prerequisite to Whoa) and become accustomed to e-collar corrections.

An additional benefit is to get the puppy away from familiar things—routine, kennel, outdoor spaces—and expose it to new situations, other people and different dogs.

The system at Northwoods Bird Dogs uses pigeons and wild-acting, liberated bobwhite quail flushed from a johnny house into native grouse and woodcock habitat.

At the end of this training program, the puppy will:

- Hunt and find birds in native grouse cover.
- Hunt in front of and for the handler.
- Understand Here and the turning command.
- Become accustomed to e-collar corrections.
- Be excited and bold around birds and gunfire.

GUN DOG BASICS.....

The dog will learn to obey basic commands such as Whoa and Here. Whoa is used to teach a dog three things: stay on point until the handler flushes the bird; stop-to-flush; back another dog on point. The dog will be taught to hunt in front and to take direction in the field. This training is done in a controlled area with extensive use of pigeons to ensure the dog gets a sound understanding of what is expected.

The dog is taught in two parts. In the first, the dog is shown what is expected of and is guided using points of contact on its neck and/or flank. In part two, the ecollar is overlaid on these points of contact to give control at greater distances.

At the end of this program, the dog will:

- Hunt, find and point birds.
- Hold point until the bird is flushed.
- Back another dog on point.
- Stop to flush of the bird.
- Hunt in front and handle to voice and/or whistle.
- Understand and obey Whoa and Here.

GUN DOG FINISHED.....

This program builds from everything the dog learned in Gun Dog Basics. It uses more repetitions and higher levels of training in different locations using pigeons and liberated birds. The dog's hunting pattern will be fine-tuned to both voice and whistle. The dog will be trained to be steady to wing and shot, i.e., remain on point until released.

Note: At the end of the program, your dog will be finished on pigeons and liberated birds.

Additional training on wild birds will be necessary for a finished dog on grouse.

In addition to what was accomplished in Gun Dog Basics, at the end of this program, the dog will:

- Be steady to wing and shot until released.

Winter in Georgia	N/A	December – April	variable	variable

PRE-SEASON TUNE-UP.....

This program is a great way to ensure a dog is properly conditioned for the upcoming hunting season and that it will be focused on hunting birds. Northwoods Bird Dogs will refresh response to Here and Whoa. The dog will be worked on staunchness and backing using pigeons and game birds. It will be conditioned through pulling in a harness from a four-wheeler and in free-running workouts.
